Planting Seeds for Growth
Welcome to GNP Company’s 2014 Farm to Fork Report and thank you for your interest in us!

Reflecting on the last year, 2014 was one of the most memorable for GNP Company™. With notable changes and transitions taking place, our business is at a turning point in our history; and the future is bright as we turn the page to our company’s next chapter. But first, an explanation of what those changes were, as well as some very important acknowledgements.

I’d like to start by thanking Mike Helgeson for all he’s done to build a successful company, while at the helm as Chief Executive Officer of GNP Company. Last year, Mike made the decision to retire after working in the family business for more than 40 years. Under his leadership, GNP Company grew in annual sales from $120 million in 1993 to just over $450 million in 2014. Two major acquisitions were made during that time: Arcadia Fryers in Arcadia, WI and a processing plant in Luverne, MN. Serving recently as Chairman of the Board for the National Chicken Council, Mike made significant, positive contributions to both our company and industry. He leaves us with a sixth consecutive, profitable year, of which we are all proud.

I’d also like to thank the Helgeson family members for their integrity, passion and innovative spirit. It’s these qualities they instilled in us that led the way for our business to transform over decades from a small, seasonal hatchery to the largest fully integrated chicken producer in the upper Midwest. Since 1926, the relationships they’ve built with our team members, family farm partners, customers, consumers and communities have shaped who we are now and for the future. They leave us with a strong, viable, and sustainable company that’s poised for growth.

Finally, I’d like to thank Jason Logsdon, Chief Executive Officer, and the executive team of Maschhoff Family Foods for their confidence in naming me as President of GNP Company. Having been with the company for more than 37 years, I am honored for the opportunity, and I’m excited to continue to implement our growth strategy. We are fortunate to have found willing partners in a new parent company who are committed to investing in our business and engaging our people.

These developments in 2014 are the seeds of growth, planted by the hands and hearts of all of these people, especially our team members and family farm partners. As you’ll see in the 2014 Farm to Fork Report, we are continually striving to be better partners, providers and stewards. Together, we are optimistic about our continued ability to meet and exceed evolving market needs and to provide opportunities for all who join us on our journey of future growth.

To a memorable 2014 and rewarding 2015!

Stephen Jurek
President

Our Ownership
GNP Company is a Maschhoff Family Foods company. Founded by E.M. Helgeson in 1926, GNP Company was purchased in 2013 and is family-owned by St. Louis, Missouri-based Maschhoff Family Foods.

At GNP Company, we have a dedicated, diverse team with:

Over 1,700 TEAM MEMBERS

About 350 independent family farm partners who raise our chickens, many for as long as three generations.
We are dedicated to building and enriching relationships through meaningful engagement. Our strong relationships with team members, family farm partners, customers, valued suppliers and our community members are at the heart of our business. We are passionate about what we do and how we impact the lives of people.

Throughout GNP Company’s history, one of our greatest assets has been our people, many of whom have currently been with the company for a decade—or more. Take, for example, Manuel Gonzalez who celebrated his 20th anniversary with the company in 2014. Manuel has shown tremendous dedication to GNP Company as he has worked his way up to his current position of maintenance mechanic IV at the Cold Spring Processing Plant. He previously worked in the packout area and held positions of utility worker and station mechanic, and managed maintenance support to the entire plant as maintenance mechanic.

We’re proud to build and maintain a great place to work in the Minnesota and Wisconsin communities we call home.

We are dedicated to reducing our environmental footprint across our value chain. Maintaining a healthy ecosystem is critical to our survival as a company—and as a global community! We’re committed to measuring and reducing environmental impacts within our own operations and across our supply chain.

GNP Company continued to use Life Cycle Assessments to guide our efforts to create a sustainable supply chain.

THE LIFE CYCLE OF OUR PRODUCTS

35% of our GHG (Green House Gas) emissions (also referred to as carbon emissions or CO2e) occur "upstream" and are related to growing corn and other feed ingredients.

37% come from our own operations, including energy use and packaging materials.

28% result "downstream" from the distribution, retail sale, cooking and disposal of products.

Due to our commitment to reducing our environmental footprint, we have decreased carbon emissions intensity* by 1.53% per pound of chicken.

Water Conservation

- Saved 68 million gallons of water annually with the successful implementation of the Ecolab system (see next page).
- Decreased water use by 1.36 gallons per bird, which allowed GNP Company to increase production from 182 to 210 birds per minute using the same volume of water.
- We remain committed to our 2017 goal of a 40% reduction in water used to process each bird. To achieve our long-term goal of less than four gallons each bird, we continue to reduce water intensity at our Cold Spring and Arcadia processing facilities.
- Continued to support Field Stewards by participating in a pilot project in the Middle Sauk River watershed. The Minnesota-based program helps corn and soybean farmers minimize their impact on water quality and the environment by using credits as incentives.

Waste Reduction

- We are committed to becoming a zero waste company, though it is not likely we will reach our goal of doing so by 2017.
- We strive for zero waste by reusing, recovering and recycling resources downstream at the post-consumer stage and reducing waste upstream by diverting waste from landfills through the use of more sustainable materials.
- In 2014, we participated on a limited basis with Environmental Initiative’s Waste Reduction Collaborative; we did not renew our membership in EPA’s WasteWise program.

Energy Consumption

- Poultry production increased in 2014, by processing more pounds it allows our systems to operate more efficiently.
- In 2014, we saw a 17% increase in our natural gas and LP usage.
- GNP Company is committed to our 2017 goal of a 20% reduction in energy use.

Company-Wide Carbon Emissions

- Company-wide carbon emissions decreased per pound of chicken produced.
- Total emissions were 104,435,883 kilograms of CO2e, which was a 4.57% increase.

* Intensity is calculated by dividing total volume of energy, water, etc. used by finished pounds of chicken.

GNP Company played a critical role in the creation of the U.S. Poultry & Egg Association’s Poultry Industry Working Group, which is tasked with creating a sustainability program for the U.S. broiler, egg and turkey industry.
Fresh water is critically important to poultry processing and also to the vitality of our local communities. Through our Ecolab partnership and Inspexx™ system investment, GNP Company has achieved meaningful reduction in water usage. The system added efficiencies to bird washing processes at our Cold Spring Processing Plant. Now we can safely and efficiently recycle water up to five times in the process by treating it with specially formulated antimicrobial solutions.

The new process has resulted in reduced water use and approximately $250,000 in cost savings annually, eliminating the need for a $500,000 investment in additional water treatment capacity. Using the same volume of water, we can produce more birds per minute. Improved eco-efficiency makes our operations and company more resilient, while helping to preserve fresh water for future generations.

Water saved is nearly enough to provide each average, healthy adult living in Minnesota’s capitol city of Saint Paul with 11, 8-oz glasses of drinking water each day.

“Being good to our planet means impacting the things we have control over and influencing those things we do not. It means stepping out of our comfort zone to make a positive difference across our entire supply chain, wherever we can.”

- Paul Helgeson, Sustainability Manager
We're dedicated to delivering safe, nutritious and humanely raised products to the marketplace. We’re acutely aware that consumers entrust us with the health and well-being of their families. That awareness is what drives us to make no compromises when it comes to the care of our chickens and promise of safe, quality and truthfully labeled products.

GNP Company not only passed, but also increased our American Humane Certified® score, a gauge of animal welfare performance, to 90%.

Animal Welfare Commitment

- Conducted routine audits of our performance against guidelines set forth by the American Humane Certified® Farm Program (AHC), the National Chicken Council (NCC) standards, the American Veterinary Medical Association (AVMA), industry experts and university scientists.
- Drove accountability back to individual animal caretakers with regular internal audits conducted to monitor and continuously improve individual caretaker performance.
- Completed rigorous, regular training for all team members responsible for animal care or handling in proper welfare practices.
- Strictly adhered to the humane slaughter standards of the AHC and NCC—using methods established and approved by the AVMA.

Annual Animal Welfare Audit Process & Performance

- Annually, an independent auditing agency audits and assesses GNP Company against more than 200 standards of the American Humane Certified® Farm Program, of which more than 30 focus specifically on the four major areas of processing.
  An overall total score of at least 85% is needed to pass.

- In 2014, both primary production plants, both hatcheries, all new family farm partners/grow-out barns, and one-third of previously audited contracted family farm partners/grow-out facilities (randomly selected) passed with a score of 90% or better.
