Zika, one of many health threats on the planet, is a mosquito-borne disease. The virus is spread by the Aedes aegypti mosquito.

Transmission...
- Mosquitoes can bite humans in the early stages of the virus colonization.
- It is also critical that individualsاكنون that Aedes species may spread the virus.
- In 5% of people with Zika infection, it develops symptoms 1.
- Women who are pregnant or planning to get pregnant are at risk of transmitting the virus to the fetus.
- A very small number of people can develop complications after becoming ill with the virus.

How to mitigate your risk...

How to protect Yourself
- Use mosquito repellent.
- Bed nets at night.
- Wear long sleeves and pants.
- Use air conditioner or fans if available.
- Use screens on doors and windows.
- Use air conditioning and fans if available.

How to protect your Customers and Employees
- Install mosquito netting (if available).
- Cover all exposed skin with long sleeves and pants.
- Install plug-in mosquito repellent.
- Use screens on doors and windows.
- Use air conditioning and fans if available.
- Use air conditioning and fans if available.

Prevention...
- Prevention through a focus on breeding sites, leveraging our knowledge of mosquito behavior and breeding sites to source and prevent presence before they can be a problem.
- Prevention through a focus on breeding sites, leveraging our knowledge of mosquito behavior and breeding sites to source and prevent presence before they can be a problem.

ZIKA Virus
- An egg can develop into a larva, pupa and adult within 8-10 days.

Countries affected...
- Breaks of Zika virus have been reported in Africa, Southeast Asia, the Pacific islands and the Americas, most notably in Brazil.

Transmission...
- Mosquitoes can bite humans in the early stages of the virus colonization.
- It is also critical that individualsاكنون that Aedes species may spread the virus.
- In 5% of people with Zika infection, it develops symptoms 1.
- Women who are pregnant or planning to get pregnant are at risk of transmitting the virus to the fetus.
- A very small number of people can develop complications after becoming ill with the virus.

How to mitigate your risk...

How to protect Yourself
- Use mosquito repellent.
- Bed nets at night.
- Wear long sleeves and pants.
- Use air conditioner or fans if available.
- Use screens on doors and windows.
- Use air conditioning and fans if available.

How to protect your Customers and Employees
- Install mosquito netting (if available).
- Cover all exposed skin with long sleeves and pants.
- Install plug-in mosquito repellent.
- Use screens on doors and windows.
- Use air conditioning and fans if available.
- Use air conditioning and fans if available.

Prevention...
- Prevention through a focus on breeding sites, leveraging our knowledge of mosquito behavior and breeding sites to source and prevent presence before they can be a problem.
- Prevention through a focus on breeding sites, leveraging our knowledge of mosquito behavior and breeding sites to source and prevent presence before they can be a problem.

ZIKA Virus
- An egg can develop into a larva, pupa and adult within 8-10 days.